SHORT LOCALS.

Brief Items of Interest Throughout the Town and County.

The local postoffice observed Sunday hours Tuesday, that day being the national memorial day and a legal holiday.

Mr. Henry N. Hill and family, who have been residing in Orangeburg for the past year or so, have returned to Bamberg to reside.

The Herald is in receipt of an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of Clemson college on June fourth, fifth and sixth.

Real, old-fashioned summer time has held forth for the past week. The thermometer has flirted with a hundred degrees frequently during the last few days.

The following amounts will be received by the schools in this county from the high school fund: Bamberg $500; Denmark, $500; Ehrhardt, $300; Olar, $350.

Mr. N. P. Murdaugh, of Hays, Fla., writes: "Change the address of my paper to Lake City, Fla. I will leave here tomorrow for Lake City. Address: 327 S. Marion street."

At a meeting of the State Democratic executive committee recently the dates for the county-to-county campaign meetings were fixed. The campaign party will visit Bamberg on Thursday, July 27th.

Local showers are predicted during the remainder of the week. One or two good showers fell Monday in some parts of the county. The general rains are yet to make their appearance in this section.

The Sunday-school picnic of Trinity Sunday-school was held Tuesday at Cedar Spring, a few miles from town. A large crowd went out to the picnic and the children and grown-ups enjoyed themselves immensely.

At an enthusiastic meeting at Cope last week, held in the interest of the Orangeburg packing house, about three thousand dollars to the capital stock was subscribed. Addresses were made by several prominent speakers.

At the meeting of the taxpayers of the Bamberg school district Monday last, Mr. H. W. Adams was elected to succeed himself as trustee. The term of one trustee expires each year. The meeting also voted the usual three-mill school tax. No other business was transacted.

At the meeting of group five, South Carolina Bankers association at St. Matthews Tuesday, Mr. C. F. Rizer, of the Bank of Olar, was elected chairman; and Mr. F. V. James, of the Citizens Exchange Bank, Denmark, was elected a member of the executive committee.

Evangelist Andrews, who has just closed a successful revival in St. George, will begin evangelistic services at Trinity church in Bamberg on June 7th. Dr. Andrews is described as a preacher of great force, and much good will doubtless be accomplished by his visit to Bamberg.

A competitive examination will be held at Columbia June 23rd to secure eligibles for appointment by Senator Tillman to the Naval Academy. At the same time a vacancy from the second district will be filled by Congressman Byrnes, who will appoint the boy from this district receiving the highest percentage.

The Thielien Theatre has purchased a latest improved Powers 6-A motion picture machine, which will be installed Friday. The machine is now on exhibition and is attracting considerable attention. Manager Black states that with this machine in operation, the picture service at the Thielien will be second to none. Two reels can be run on this machine without change.

Olar School to Close.

The closing exercises of the Olar high school will be held on June 1st, 2nd and 4th. A very attractive and entertaining programme has been arranged. The awarding of diplomas will take place Thursday night at the school auditorium, the orator of the evening being Dr. Josiah Morse. Medals will be delivered by Prof. F. C. Chitty, and the diplomas will be presented by Supt. R. Fair Goodwin. John Edward Neeley is the salutatorian and Maggie Rosalie Milhous the valedictorian. A splendid musical programme will be rendered on this evening by the music pupils.

The school picnic will be held on Friday, June 2nd, at Rummymede, three miles from Olar. Hon. Robert A. Cooper, a gubernatorial aspirant, will be the speaker of the occasion.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached Sunday morning following by Rev. Chas. B. Smith. The public is cordially invited to attend all of these occasions, and especially requested to attend the picnic Friday, bringing well-filled baskets along.

Silver Wedding.

Among the social functions of last week the most beautiful event was the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Graham. Representatives of two of Barnwell's oldest and most honored families, their friends are legion—several hundred of these were bidden, and a large number assembled with congratulations and good wishes.

Receiving at the door were: Mrs. J. D. Copeland, Jr., Mrs. W. P. Jones, Mrs. John Barr, Mrs. Robt. Black, Mrs. Elise Walker and Mrs. Joseph Newsom. The attractive rooms were decorated in artistic manner—bridal white and green predominating in the parlors. Graceful ferns and pot plants on pedestals, and cut flowers in silver and crystal vases, were arranged throughout the first floor. The color scheme in the dining room was pink, emphasized by trailing sprays of sweet peas over lace covered table and mantle.

A feast for lovers of music was provided by Mrs. Henry Henderson and Mrs. H. N. Folk, each contributing vocal and instrumental music appropriate to the occasion.

Many elegant and costly gifts were received, attesting the popularity of Mr. and Mrs. Graham.

The wedding march, played by Miss Rebekah Graham, announced the approach of the bridal party. The attendants, being as nearly as possible those of the original wedding, were: Prof. and Mrs. J. A. Klein, Miss Miriam Rice with Mr. J. D. Copeland, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Spann, Mrs. Kathleen Riley with Mr. Angus Brabham, Mr. and Mrs. John Barr, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Kirkland. Directing preceding the bride, who was attired in a handsome costume of silver grey crepe meteor, came little Grace Graham, a lovely child, wearing white lingerie, and bearing the ring on a silver waiter.

The slender bride of '91, now matured into matronly loveliness, even as a flower fulfills the promise of the bud, entered on the arm of the groom. Rev. W. R. McMillan pronounced a beautiful service, reviewing the successful years, and binding anew their lives with the ring ceremony and solemn benediction. Congratulations were extended with heartfelt good will and earnest meaning.

Conspicuous features of the occasion were the presence of four generations. The aged Dr. N. F. Kirkland, father of Mrs. Graham—sole representative of a day remarkable for men of his kind, honored and loved by all who know him; Mr. and Mrs. Graham, their ten children and one grandchild, completed the happy circle.

Delightful refreshments, consisting of a salad course, followed by a sweet course and mints, were served by twelve young girls, friends of the family, daintily attired in white and pink. Cards engraved in silver, bearing the dates of the two weddings and the name of the bride and groom, were distributed as souvenirs. Miss Ruth Anderson, as the guests arrived, registered their names in a silver bound book, while the little girls checked the hats.

This occasion, characterized by generous hospitality, closed with many expressions of appreciation from the guests and the wish that as years roll by, the silver may be golden, and that they may celebrate their 50th anniversary with equal joyousness.

Dr. Watson At St. George.

A St. George special to the News and Courier says of the address of Dr. E. O. Watson at the commencement exercises of the St. George high school last Tuesday night:

"Logical, convincing and in keeping with his reputation as a brilliant orator and deep thinker, the address of Dr. Watson was one of the finest ever listened to by a St. George audience. Prefacing his remarks with a reference to the parable of the foolish virgins, he stressed the need of preparedness, not only in military and industrial affairs, but closed with an eloquent appeal to the members of the graduating class and his hearers generally to fit themselves for the higher life. He spoke interestingly of conditions in South Carolina with respect to the boll weevil, as well as the need of a larger army and navy. When he spoke of the greatness of President Wilson there was a storm of applause."

Mr. Walker Withdraws.

Mr. W. Max Walker requests us this week to take out his card for clerk of court of Bamberg county. Mr. Walker gives as his reason for withdrawing the stress of other business. He is cashier of the Farmers & Merchants Bank, of Ehrhardt, and a leading insurance agent in this section. He has scores of friends all over the county. He expresses his appreciation for the many kind assurances he has received from friends, but wants them to know that he will not be in politics this year.

Carlisle Commencement.

The following invitation has been issued: "The faculty and graduating class of Carlisle school request the honor of your presence at their twenty-third commencement exercises, June third, fourth and fifth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, Bamberg, S. C."

The following programme of the various exercises has been announced:

SATURDAY, JUNE THIRD.

8:30 p. m.—Exhibition by gymnasium team, C. F. Rizer gymnasium.

SUNDAY, JUNE FOURTH.

11:00 a. m.—Annual sermon, Rev. Franklin N. Parker, D. D., Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., Trinity church.

8:30 p. m.—Sermon before the Young People's Christian association, Dr. Franklin N. Parker, D. D., Trinity church.

MONDAY, JUNE FIFTH.

8:30 p. m.—Address before the literary societies, Hon. Thos. G. McLeod, Bishopville, S. C., Carlisle auditorium.

Graduating exercises, Carlisle auditorium.

The graduating class this year is composed of the following young ladies and gentlemen: Oita Sadler Burns, Ollie Mae Culclasure, Samuel Clyde Fair, Wesley Culler Farnum, Virginia Folk, Walter Eubanks Hankinson, Ibbie Lyons, Lida Calvert Lyons, Eugene Traham Moore, Angus Wilson Riley, James Bludworth Skinner, Percy McKissick Smith, Jesse Joel Stevenson, Jr., Henry Claude Parnelle.

The public is cordially invited to attend all of these exercises. The gymnasium exhibition will be especially interesting to Bamberg people, this being the first exhibition ever presented in Bamberg.

News Paper Goes Up Again.

The following telegram from the paper house from which The Herald buys paper is self-explanatory:

"Richmond, Va., May 25, 1916. 'Hitt & Bruce, Bamberg, S. C."

"All prices on news paper withdrawn and new price of four cents pound goes in effect at once."

"B. W. WILSON PAPER CO."

The last time The Herald management purchased newspaper it cost 2.75 cents per pound, this being an advance from 2.65 cents, the normal price. The quotation preceding this telegram was 3.25 cents per pound. Our subscribers may know, from this information, that when they receive a copy of The Herald they are receiving something that is valuable. (P. S. If the date on your label is 1 June 16 or anywhere back of that date, you can assist us in paying this increased cost of news paper by sending us a dollar and a half.)

Raymond Bolen in Jail.

Sheriff S. G. Ray returned to Bamberg Wednesday night of last week from Columbus, Ohio, where he went a few days previous to bring back to this county L. Raymond Bolen, a young white man, who is charged with having committed an outrage upon a little negro girl near the town of Bamberg, who, it is said, is under ten years of age.

Young Bolen was arrested in Columbus at the United States army training camp, where he had gone after enlistment in the army at Savannah several weeks ago.

It is understood that the defense will be that of an alibi. Young Bolen is quite popular among a large circle in the city. He is the son of Rev. B. D. Bolen, a Baptist minister, who has served a number of churches around Bamberg for the last several years.

Hair-Cudd.

The following invitation has been issued: "Dr. and Mrs. George F. Hair invite you to be present at the marriage of their daughter, Blanche, to Mr. John James Cudd, Wednesday evening, June fourteenth at seven o'clock, Baptist church, Bamberg, South Carolina."

Executive Committee Meeting.

The Democratic county executive committee will meet in Bamberg at the court house next Monday, to transact such business as may properly be brought before the meeting. This will be the first meeting of the new executive committee.

There are various matters to be acted on by the committee, and every member is urged to be present. It is probable that the meeting Monday will decide upon the county campaign meetings, fix the assessments for the candidates, etc. A committee on enrollment will be appointed.

It will be remembered that under the new rules of the Democratic party in this State, voters must enroll for every primary election. The fact that a voter enrolled two years ago will not entitle him to participate in the primary this year.

Are You Worn, Weak and Weary?

Are you worn, weak and weary,
And in life you find no rest?
Come and find the source of comfort,
Lay your head on Jesus's breast.

He is gentle, meek and lowly,
And His love doth full abound,
Though you doubt Him, fear to trust Him,
He is the greatest friend you've found.

Go and see Him while He's waiting,
Other souls their burden to share,
At the gate of mercy standing,
Jesus is ever ready to hear.

Are you worn, weak and weary?
Go to Jesus; He is near,
In the day time, in the night time,
In the quiet hour of prayer.

Go and tell Him of your crosses,
Of the sins you are sore beset,
For the Lord is perfect mercy,
And His word endureth yet.

—Willie Hay, Jr.

School at Lodge Closes.

Lodge, May 25.—The commencement of the Lodge rural graded school was held last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, when the most successful session in the history of the school came to a close. On Friday night the exercises were given by the primary and intermediate grades and among the renditions were "Cabbage Hill School," "Down East Courtship," crown drill, etc., followed by a selection by a quartette and some delightful piano selections. The audience was the largest that has ever attended a commencement at Lodge.

On Saturday night another large audience was present for the graduating exercises, when M. P. Howell, Esq., of Walterboro, delivered the address to the class. His theme was "Success, Happiness and Salvation," and his remarks were a great literary treat.

Other interesting features of the programme were the class prophecy by Laur'e Fender, class will by Pattie Miley, class history by Blanche Jones, and the valedictory by Vera Jordan. The message to the graduating class was delivered by the youthful, but brilliant and eloquent, principal, C. C. Garris. Diplomas were presented to four graduates.

The commencement sermon Sunday morning was preached by Dr. W. W. Daniel, president of Columbia college, to an audience that more than filled the Methodist church, many listening through the windows and from automobiles. The subject of Dr. Daniel was appropriate and ably presented.

On Sunday night the Rev. J. C. Lawson, the retiring Baptist minister here, preached a fine sermon at the Methodist church by special invitation, a large congregation hearing him.

The trustees of the school have re-elected Prof. Garris and Mrs. Zeigler for another year, and two other teachers will be added to the corps. Prof. Garris has already served here two terms.

Swallows Carbolic Acid.

Spartanburg, May 24.—Miss Edith Riddle, 18 years old, of Clifton, died last night after swallowing a quantity of carbolic acid, supposedly with suicidal intent. It is understood that the young woman had been in ill health for some time and that while the other members of the family were at breakfast, she swallowed the contents of an ounce bottle of the poison. Physicians were hurriedly summoned and rendered every possible aid, but death resulted after nearly twelve hours of suffering.

Life is a constant struggle against death.

AMERICA IN GERMAN DEBATE.

Deputies in Reichstag Score Berlin for Suppression of Criticisms.

Berlin, May 25.—The United States played a large role in the censorship debate in the Reichstag today. Two of the principal speakers, Deputy Oertel, Conservative, and Deputy Hirsch, National Liberal, severely criticised the government for measures which they alleged were adopted to suppress criticism of the United States in the newspapers and to put brakes on the agitation for a more vigorous submarine campaign.

Deputy Oertel, who is editor of the Deutsche Tages Zeitung, attacked the authorities vigorously for their attempt to suppress the gigantic petition gotten up by Prof. Deitrich Schaefer, of Berlin University, against Germany's yielding to the demands of the United States. Deputy Oertel attacked the government for the censorship which had been exercised over editorial comment on the American note and for prohibiting the republication of an anti-American article written by the Conservative leader, Heydebrand.

Foreign Minister Von Jagow, in reply, declared emphatically that both the military and political authorities had agreed that negotiations with America must not be impeded by press comment. The minister said that a temperamental article such as that of Heydebrand would certainly have stirred up public feeling, and that he, therefore, accepted full responsibility for its suppression.

Deputy Hirsch resumed the floor after Foreign Minister Von Jagow had concluded. He reiterated the complaints made by Deputy Oertel, and alluding to the possibility of American mediation, declared it would be impossible to accept the good offices of an "ostensible neutral who soiled its hands with blood by using its best efforts to prolong the war."

Deputy Hirsch concluded by asserting that all parties, both of the Right and Left, are in accord in their criticism of the political censorship. He said that the spokesmen of the Socialist and Conservativ parties differ in no way in regard to the free discussion, although they naturally chose different examples to illustrate their complaints.

A Company of Washingtons.

This story hasn't missed a reunion for thirty years:

A group of Sherman's men were camped for a week near the cottage of a widow who owned a few acres of poor land and a good cow. She prospered amazingly during our stay by selling pies and cakes to the soldiers and furnishing the headquarters with milk.

The general issued most stringent orders against any foraging on her little property and was decidedly angry when the widow reported that she could furnish no milk because the soldiers had been milking the cow. He hurried to the company nearest the widow's home and called the captain.

"I don't know anything about it," the captain assured him, "but if my men have been stealing milk it will be easy to find it out—my men don't lie." He summoned his bugler and ordered him to sound the assembly. The company fell in and stood at attention. The captain addressed them briefly, telling of the complaint and ordered any man who had been guilty of milking the widow's cow to step to the front.

The company moved forward as one man, except the first sergeant.

The general was astonished—and somewhat curious. "How is it, sergeant," he asked, "that when all the rest have been stealing milk you refrained?"

"General," replied the soldier, "I can't milk. I held the cow." The general turned to the captain and saluted: "Captain, this is the first company of George Washingtons I ever saw. Dismiss your company, sir."—New York Sun.

National Viewpoint.

Once upon a time, so the story goes, a Frenchman, visiting the tomb of Napoleon, wrote on a convenient wall the lines:

"Bonny was a great man, a soldier brave and true."

An Englishman coming along a little later read this and added:

"But Wellington did beat him at the battle of Waterloo."

The next visitor was an American who, seeing the foregoing contributions, rushed into the competition with all of the restraint that characterizes the members of our great nation:

"But braver still, and truer far and tougher far than shoe leather, Was Washington, the man who could have licked them both together,"

He wrote and doubtless went away quite satisfied with his climax.

MANNING AT WARE SHOALS.

The Governor Addresses Large Crowd and Receives Ovation.

Ware Shoals, May 24.—Governor Manning spoke here today to one of the largest crowds ever gathered together at a picnic in this section of the State. It was estimated that fully three thousand people were present, representing farmers, mill operatives, educators, professional and business men, from Laurens, Abbeville, Greenwood, Anderson and Greenville counties.

The occasion was the Jones school picnic. This picnic has been an annual event for several years, and the people from this section of the State gather here at the closing of this school for a gala occasion.

After the usual exercises incident to the closing of the school, the large gathering was addressed by Col. J. H. Wharton. Col. Wharton was followed by Dr. David M. Ramsay, of Greenville. The last address of the occasion was that of Governor Manning, the guest of honor of the day. When Governor Manning arose to speak he was given an ovation. The large gathering of citizens of the Piedmont section of the State listened intently to a speech that did not refer to politics in any way.

The governor began his speech by expressing his appreciation of the cordial reception and complimented the crowd on the marked improvement in education in South Carolina, saying, "I hope that the time is not far distant when we will have a well-equipped school house on every hillside, and the facilities are provided for the education of every white child."

This statement was well received. The governor referred to the advantage of the night schools in providing education for those who, by reason of their inability to attend school during working hours, might secure the educational advantages to which they are entitled.

"I am deeply interested in the education of the children of our rural and mill communities," said Governor Manning. "My heart is in this work, and I shall continue to fight for these children so long as I am given power and strength to do so," he continued.

The governor was in fine form today, and his speech was full of snap and vigor. It is evident that when the campaign opens in June Governor Manning will be amply prepared to take care of himself.

The crowd was certainly a Manning crowd. The governor was given quite an ovation when he finished his speech, and for a good while was kept busy shaking hands with the people and hearing their words of endorsement of the stand that he has taken and the fight that he is making. The crowd was a representative one, and was from all sections of the Piedmont. It was stated on all sides here today that Governor Manning is much stronger in the Piedmont than ever before. After a most sumptuous dinner the crowd was treated to a splendid exhibition of baseball. The governor left on the afternoon train for Columbia, after expressing himself as delighted with the reception accorded him by the citizens of the Piedmont.

A Good Governor.

Manning has made South Carolina a good governor. There has been no bluster; no braggadocio; no effort to be sensational; no attempt to be continually in the limelight; no use of language that grates upon the sensibility of persons who abhor the bully and braggart; no abuse of political opponents. In fact we know of but one or two things Mr. Manning has done that should not meet with the approval of the people of the State. In one case he displayed extreme partisanship of which we have little doubt he quickly repented (because it is not like him to be that way) and in one other case we would have preferred that he had not attempted to play the dictator. But even then he has been so much more conservative than what this State has been accustomed to we feel that we can forgive what few shortcomings he has displayed. If other governors before him have merited a second term surely Mr. Manning has. To our way of thinking he has made as good a governor as the State has had within our recollection.—Gaffney Ledger.
